Gorilla Tape Now Available in Handy 1” Roll

Bond, Patch, Hold or Repair Almost Any Surface “on the go”

CINCINNATI (January 24, 2008) -- Gorilla Tape, the premium all purpose tape that adheres to surfaces most other tapes won't, like brick, stucco, concrete, rough lumber and more, is now available in a Handy 1” Roll.

The Handy 1” Roll is the perfect size for contractors and DIYers, as well as sports enthusiasts and outdoor adventurers looking for a tough, portable tape to repair, patch or hold equipment while building and remodeling, landscaping, hunting, fishing, hiking, camping, boating, surfing or bicycling.

Gorilla Tape strikes a delicate balance between strength and usability, providing the maximum amount of sticking power without sacrificing ease of use. The combination of double thick adhesive, strong webbed backing and rugged all-weather shell make it one of the few all-purpose tapes to consistently stick to smooth, rough or uneven surfaces, indoors or out.

Here's why:

Double-thick adhesive: With 17 mils of adhesive – two times more than the amount commonly found in other all-purpose tape -- Gorilla Tape fills gaps for a stickier grip, especially in applications involving imperfect surfaces.

Strong reinforced backing: Gorilla Tape's reinforced webbed backing has a higher thread count than the current industry standard, which allows for enhanced flexibility and durability, yet it can be ripped by hand. The woven texture improves its ability to conform to most any surface feature.

Rugged, all-weather shell: The abrasion resistant, all-weather shell provides a tight barrier against moisture to hold the bond securely under the most extreme weather conditions and harsh UV rays. It can withstand extreme temperatures below freezing and above 170 degrees, a point when most other tapes fail.
